JUNIOR PROM A GRAND SUCCESS.

The Junior Prom, given Friday evening, May 12, in the dining room of the Phoenix Hotel, was one of the greatest social events at the University for years. That part of the lobby leading into the hall was curtained off by large United States flags and was filled with tables arranged for the convenience of those not dancing or of all between dances and at intermission. The spacious dining hall was beautifully decorated in the Senior and Junior colors, green and white and cardinal and gray, respectively.

From the large chandelier in the center to the four corners of the room were festoons, in the two class colors, while the sides were draped in the same colors. Above the entrance were hung a 1911 and 1912 pennant and along the walls, at regular intervals, the blue and white—State's colors, the cardinal and gray, and the green and white pennants were to be seen. A handsome Kentucky pennant, with one of 1911 on the left and one of 1912 on the right, was suspended between large numerals of the Junior and Senior classes, in colored electric light scheme, one on either side of the farther end of the hall. Here in one corner the musicians were hidden from view by a screen of plants and in the other corner delightful punch was served. During intermission the dancers were refreshed by a very tasteful lunch.

A large and appreciative number of guests were present and all seemed to have an enjoyable time, some of the seniors very kindly expressing themselves as having had one of the most charming evenings of their entire college career. One and all, everybody seems to have come away with a very favorable impression of the 1912 Junior Prom.

Invitations as follows were given out to seniors, faculty and former members of the class of '12.

DUAL MEET.

State to Meet Her Old Rivals On the Track This Afternoon

CLOSE MEET EXPECTED

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the "Wildcats" will endeavor to run off from their Crimson rivals and an interesting chase is assured. This meet will close the track season, and in spite of adverse conditions coach Iddings has developed a fairly good team. In the hundred yard dash State will have Kohn and Needy both who can do the distance in 10 3-5 seconds. In the 2:20 yd. run Watkins and Nadinger will enter, the best time that these men have is 25 seconds. In the 440 yd. run Johnson and Needy will start with a record of 55 seconds. In the half mile the only man entered is Strong with a record of 2 minutes and 13 seconds. In the mile our interests will be taken care of by Captain Collins. Hardesty will also enter in this race. In the 120 yard dash hurdles, Harrison and Chambers will start, each having shown the distance in 15 1-5 seconds. May will do the high jumping for State with a record of 5 ft 4 inches. In the pole vault Shanklin and Barnett are the Blue and White entries, the former has a record of 10 ft. 3 inches to his credit. Shanklin will also do the broad jumping for State, he having jumped 19 ft. and 9 in. in practice. Both Webb and Douglas have put the shot over 35 feet and show prospects of increasing this distance. In the discus Bush and Johnson hurled the Greek missile over a hundred feet. Webb and Johnson will be entered for the banner with Webb holding the record of 110 feet.

The relay team will be composed of Kohn, Needy, Nadinger and Johnson. The order of events for the meet are as follows:

100 yard dash; high jump; mile run; 220 yd. run; pole vault; hammer throw; 440 yd. run; broad jump; 120 yd. hurdles; shot put; 880 yd. run; discus; pelkey.

The officials will be Prof. Mustaine, starter; Prof. Monroe, Judges Cruise, Van Meter, Hinton, Timers, Turner, Heinz; Clerk of Course, Engle.

Each school is to have two men in each event. First will count five points, second will count three points. Relay race to count three points to winning team. Meet to be governed by A. A. U. rules. Meet to start at 4 o'clock promptly, no admission. Every member of team requested to be at a meeting of all contestants in gymnasium immediately before meet.

This will be the last appearance of coach Iddings and it is expected that all teams will turn out and show their appreciation of his good work. A finer gentleman and friend of State will be hard to find. Every one come and bring some one. The meet is free and is held as a compliment to the visiting Knight Templars.

FAREWELL CONCERT

FAREWELL CONCERT

Musical Clubs To Give Farewell Recital in College Chapel on Saturday Evening, May 20

ADMISSION 25 CENTS

The Glee and Mandolin Clubs have been unfortunate in not being able to give a home concert earlier in the year, but circumstances prevented them from doing so. Concerts have been given in nearly all other towns and it is only just that the University should have the privilege of hearing this splendid organization. A plan is on foot to take a trip after the present school year closes, the plan being to advertise the University. It is intended that the University be advertised in this manner and the trip will be one that will be enjoyed by all. The members of the Glee and Mandolin Clubs will have their annual banquet on the last night of exams, and a good time can be expected when these revellers get together.

The Glee Club will start next year with the following men for a nucleus: Skiff, Smith, Burnbaugh, Thesing, Watts, Kohnhorst and Ligon. The Mandolin Club will have Burnbaugh, Weisenberger, Barker, Gregory, Skiff, Watts and Miller. Only four men will graduate from these organizations, they being Ernest Becker, and Paul Francis from the Glee Club and J. B.

Sanders and J. M. Foster of the Mandolin Club.

The concert on Saturday will be especially attractive as the Mandolin Club, which is a new organization here, will appear for the first time before a Lexington audience. This club has been practicing under the leadership of Mr. Tyler Watts and a clever number of selections have been prepared.

The Glee Club under the direction of Prof. F. L. Wheeler has prepared the best songs used by college glee clubs and only music of the most pleasing nature is to be rendered.

The soloists for the concert are Mr. E. H. Smith, tenor and Mr. Tyler Watts, violin. The quartette composed of E. H. Smith, E. L. Becker, H. Kohnhorst and V. P. Ligon will render several good songs. To all skeptical of the University, this concert should be the means of convincing them that the college really has a musical organization of which we might well be proud.

It is earnestly hoped that every one be present in wishing the Glee and Mandolin Clubs farewell for the season. The admission has been reduced from 50 cents to 25 cents in order to be within the reach of all. To those who wish to spend a pleasant hour and three quarters, it is suggested that they bring their girl to the concert. Remember the date, May 20, at 8 p. m., University chapel. Admission 25 cents.

ILLUMINATION.

Representative of General Electric Talks to Miners and Mechanics.

Prof. A. M. Wilson, professor of Electrical Engineering, gave a brief resume of the G. E. Company and their methods of business and manufacture, introducing the speaker of the morning, Mr. Schroeder.

Mr. Schroeder gave a brief outline of the incandescent lamps, of which department he represented for the G. E. Company. Starting with the rude and inefficient carbon filament of Edison's make, he interested the students not only with the development of the incandescent lamp but also its manufacture, and showed a few diagrams of the various forms of lamp filament made by the G. E. interests.

da lamps were discussed, together with that of the Nernst and Cooper Hewitt lighting devices. This went to prove that the tungsten, although a smaller unit, was cheaper to maintain and install, even for factory purposes against installation and repair of Cooper-Hewitt and Nernst lamps.

Mr. Schroeder was the guest of Professor Wilson for luncheon, and remained over for the afternoon to talk to prospective Seniors and Juniors of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering.

PATTERSON SOCIETY ELECTION

Officers Chosen For First Term Next Year

The Patterson Literary Society held its business meeting of this collegiate year, on Saturday night. The officers were elected for the first term beginning in September and ending in December. N. G. Rochester was chosen president; John Wilson, vice-president and C. E. Blevins, treasurer.

This closes one of the most successful years in the history of the society and with the capable energetic officers chosen for the next year, the work should attain an even higher standard than ever before.

The contract with Mr. Iddings who has been the coach of the basketball and track teams expires on June 1st.

It has been the pleasure of several to become acquainted with Mr. Iddings during his work as coach and all agree that a gentleman with a square deal to all he is without a peer. He began the season of basket ball with adverse conditions. The student body did not like to have anyone come in and take the place of Mr. Sweetland who was liked by all. Naturally Mr. Iddings felt this and he proceeded immediately in winning the friendship of the student body. Being of a retiring disposition, he was somewhat handicapped and because of this feature he was thought by many to be too reserved but such was not the case. After once knowing the coach one could not but help admiring him and the only regret of those that knew him is that more did not have the same privilege. Out of an apparently green basket ball team he succeeded in getting an organization that was second to none in the state. The track team has done wonderful work under his instruction, considering the poor equipment at his disposal.

To the members of the athletic department of this paper he has always been willing to do any service in his power. It is with regret that we see him leave and "The Idea" joins with the students in wishing him continued success in the future.

GIRL'S TOURNAMENT.

Mrs. Stout Extends a Favor to Male Students and Asks One in Return.

The Ninth Annual Gymnastic Tournament of the young women of the State University will be held on Saturday afternoon, May 20th, at three o'clock. Lieutenant James Lindgren, graduate of the Royal Central Gymnastic Institute of Stockholm, Sweden, will address the audience on "The Medical Feature of Gymnastics," and Professor A. S. Mackenzie, head of the English Department of the University of Kentucky, will speak briefly on "The Sacred Dance in Literature and Art." Following the remarks of the latter, the students in Greek dress will give a program of classic dances finishing with that of Annie Laurie, composed by the Director.

The Medical Society of Lexington, the Ministerial Association, the heads of Departments, and the women of the city are cordially invited to be present. No gentleman will be charged admittance. The fee for women is 25 cents.

It is always a matter of keen regret to the Director of this Department that all young men in the University are not present at this demonstration. It was especially true at the last tournament when Lieutenant Lindgren of Sweden, now of Louisville, said with emphasis that the work done by our young women was the most brilliant exhibition of scientific movement that he had ever seen in this country.

Because of the limited space in our gallery, it is impossible to make many comfortable, but the Physical Director of women extends a most cordial invitation to all Seniors who do not object to standing.

Mrs. Stout asks an exchange of courtesy, and requests that young gentlemen whom she has met socially will speak to her first on the campus. It is not pleasant to pass and repass without recognizing persons whom one has met and in whom one feels an interest. Conventionality demands that a woman speak first, but Mrs. Stout calls attention to the fact that she lives in every part of the fourteenth judicial district, that she is supposed not only to have a speaking acquaintance with everybody in Frankfort, Georgetown, Versailles and Paris, but in those counties as well, not to mention Lexington people and the University girls.

EXAMINATIONS BEGIN MONDAY,
MAY 22.

Final Test For the Year.

The Committee on Examinations has reported that the "finals" will begin next Monday and continue during the entire week. The order in which the various classes come in the schedule is somewhat disarranged, the usual custom of holding the examinations by days in the order of the hours in which the classes recite not being followed. On the contrary all afternoon classes will be examined Monday, the fourth hour classes Tuesday, the third hour classes Wednesday, and so on, all conflicts being held over for the last day of examinations, Saturday.

This is rather an unfortunate arrangement for some of the Freshmen engineers who will be held here till the last for a first or second hour class, when they could otherwise be off a day or so sooner. The new order of exams may, perhaps, be of advantage to a few of the students, but it also puts a premium on afternoon work, which a great number of students do not have at all, by giving examinations in it first. As many students at least, who have afternoon work, also have third and fourth hour classes as there are those who do not have the afternoon classes but who have to stay one day later for the examinations, while only a few in the afternoon work are affected one way or the other by the new order of exams. Then why a great number should be inconvenienced for no apparent reason is not clearly evident to everyone. Altogether this seems to be rather an unfortunate arrangement which possibly might have been improved upon if the committee had considered its disadvantages. However, this is the order for the year, so we can only make the best of it and trust the committee may give us some other plan next year.

ENTERTAINMENT OF Y. W. C. A.
AND Y. M. C. A.

The entertainment given by the Young Women's and Young Men's Christian Associations on last Saturday evening in the Y. M. C. A. Room, was a delightful event that was much enjoyed by a large crowd of boys and Patterson Hall girls. Time after time these two students' organizations have demonstrated the fact that they can succeed in whatever they undertake. They have rendered joint programs and have rendered frequently and each attempt has been crowned with the greatest success.

On Saturday evening the Y. M. C. A. Room was beautifully decorated with pennants and the hosts and hostesses did everything in their power to render it a very pleasant social hour to all those present. This was naturally the last entertainment of the sort for this school year, but all will be ready to attend the first one next fall and to again partake of the gracious hospitality.

ANOTHER CLUB

Not long ago there was organized by the Republican boys of the University an O'Rear Club which has since then been holding enthusiastic and highly interesting meetings. The purpose of the club is not to discountenance any other candidate, but simply to endorse the principles of Judge O'Rear both as a man and as a political leader.

As young men in college, the members realize that they cannot render their country the proper service unless they are familiar with the problems of to-day, governmental, political and otherwise, and it is for the purpose of giving themselves this needed familiarity that they have joined in forming the O'Rear Club, feeling confident that as a man of strong, sterling qualities Judge O'Rear cannot be surpassed in the State. All hail the O'Rear Club.

INVITATIONS TO THE PARTY.

"What is the idea of this new political party they are talking about?" asked the students who can

"I don't know," replied Miss Cayenne, "but I suspect it is to be like some of the parties with which we are familiar—gotten up for the purpose of snubbing somebody."

BEYOND COMMENCEMENT

For the last few weeks the minds of all of us have been turning to the same goal—the end of school for the session of 1910-1911. For many reasons all have looked forward to this same end. The instructors and professors have given their undivided attention to the training and development of their students for so long past that they need a rest from the laborious, daily routine. They want to leave the cares of their various duties behind them and bee off for the seacoast, for the watering place, for the quiet of the country and for the refreshing experiences of travel in foreign lands. If we imagine that the staid professors—as we see them, unfortunately sometimes to our very great embarrassment and chagrin—are always the same no matter what the circumstances, and think that they never relax themselves in real, wholesome enjoyment of things other than stupid and dry text-books, then we are indeed much mistaken. In fact, the professors; when they are loosed from the restraint of the classroom, show at times characteristics almost entirely human; but enough—we wish for them the realization of their greatest anticipations for a happy summer.

Of the students as a whole, it is manifest that they heartily welcome the approach of vacation. They feel the momentarily repressive influence of nine months' hard work in college and they long to be out once more from under the gaze of the taskmaster and free from study, to roam the bypaths of their own dear hills or follow the countless bends of some of Kentucky's woodland streams. To be out in the open under the clear, blue sky, to plunge into the black, green woods or to wander across the fields decked with sweet-scented clover—this is the fond desire of the weary students. They yearn to leave for a time the work of the school in the hot, dusty city and go back to the quiet nooks and the shady lanes, back to the supreme enjoyment of these simple pleasures. Vacation, with all its freedom, with the recreation that it brings and the home associations, means much. Perhaps some of the students will not be left so entirely to their own means of spending the summer and may still have work to do, but even then it will be of a different nature to study and school duties. So they all may return to college next fall, after the many happy diversions of three months, with renewed energy, strength and determination. It is only after we have labored faithfully and followed up that labor with a sufficient amount of relaxation and re-creative employment that we can undertake another task with the proper spirit and enthusiasm. Hence, let us all use our time to the greatest advantage during the summer, so that we may give ourselves the needed and well-earned rest and that we may be more ready for work next year.

The coming commencement is of much greater importance, however, to our seniors than to any one else, for to them it is the last of their undergraduate work. The greater part of them will go out from here perhaps never to return. They will seek their separate walks of life, in the professional, business or literary world, and will put to test the faculties they have been cultivating here. Some of them may continue with their higher education and so better fit themselves for life, while others will see fit to begin at once on their life's work. But no matter what they may do, the end of their college career must represent an important turning point in the lives of all. They will henceforth meet with new conditions in strange and uncertain surroundings. They will be required to take life more seriously and put into it their real, earnest selves. For a long time they have looked forward to this commencement and, now that it is upon them, they must all strive to realize the seriousness of it all and what it really means to them in the future.

MECHANICAL NOTES.

The Seniors in the Mechanical Department will celebrate their annual picnic on Friday, May 26. Arrangements are complete for a large time on the banks of the Kentucky River, where the swains, both old and young, can enjoy the beautiful scenery of historic renown.

The party will be accompanied by the faculty of the Mechanical Department, who have so kindly arranged for a day of pleasure and merriment, which will long be remembered by the Senior Mechanicals and their friends.

Mr. E. M. Chandler, of Philadelphia, addressed the Junior and Senior Classes at the fourth hour Monday, on the Bankers and Engineers relation to work. Mr. Chandler not only dwelt upon the relation of the engineers to the bankers, but also showed that the engineer should pay more attention to the Finance than to Design.

Visitors' Day.

The Faculty of the College of Mechanical and Electrical Engineering of the State University of Kentucky requests the honor of your presence at the annual open day for the inspection of the work in Mechanical and Electrical Engineering, Thursday, May 18, 1911, between the hours of 1:30 and 3:30 p. m., Mechanical Hall.

"THE STROLLERS"

Meeting of Strollers To Be Held Saturday Afternoon, May 20, at 1:30 P. M., in Gym.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

"The Strollers" which by now is the best known organization in the state when it comes to amateur theatricals, will hold their annual business meeting in the gymnasium on Saturday at 1:30 p. m. The purpose of this meeting will be to wind up all the business of the year; to discuss plans for the future and to perfect the organization. The election of officers of the coming year will also take place, and this will be the most important part of the meeting. It is hoped that an efficient corps of officers will be selected as were in office during the past season.

"The Strollers" will be without the services of many who did good work for this new dramatic society, but there are those who can take their places and no fear for the future need be felt along this line. It is urged that all who took part in "Brown of Harvard" and those who had any thing whatever to do with it be present at this meeting. Mr. J. B. Sanders will present his report and it is urged that all "Strollers" be on hand. Do not forget the time, Saturday, May 20 at 1:30 p. m. gymnasium.

WHAT THE FELLOWS THINK

During the past two terms "The Idea" has been under the leadership of Mr. W. H. Townsend who succeeded Mr. O. E. Baird as Editor in Chief. During this period time has seen fit to make changes in the staff and also in the policy of the paper. It may be that to some he may have said or done things which to their mind was not just, but in making these changes he first considered the welfare of the paper, and never did personal feeling enter into any of his decisions.

We, the members of "The Idea" staff, have enjoyed the pleasure of his leadership and our only regret is that time necessitates a change in the personal of the reportorial force; and that we cannot continue to work with him for the welfare of the University. We, however, feel that next year's Editor has profited by working under such a capable leader and the good of next year's paper is assured by his having done so.

To the assistant editor, Mr. Tinsley, the editor has been a source of wonder, to Mr. Ebbert, the business manager, he has been a source of annoyance because of his quenchless thirst. Mr. Marx has been caused many sleepless nights by the Editor's persistence. He has always been ready to tell "bun" jokes to the waiting subscribers in order to pacify their feelings when The Idea did not come out on time. The Editor has continued to flatter Mr. Becker to such an extent that it has become necessary for the latter to wear headwear which has an elastic sweatband.

Isn't It Stylish?

Well, we should say it is

THE IDEA

To the ladies my "wold" he has ever been a "Lord Chesterfield."

As has been said, Mr. Townsend was a gentleman to the ladies on the staff, a scholar in the eyes of the faculty and by the young men was considered an excellent judge of good whiskey.

We are all glad to have been with you, Mr. Editor, and we hate to part company. Even Mr. Ewalt who prints "The Idea" will miss your familiar "cuss" words.

WILD CATS TRIUMPH

Meadows Star of Yesterday's Game With T. U.

SCORE: STATE 9, T. U. 0

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon an enthusiastic bunch of Transylvania rooters saw Barnett, their first man up, pop out to Preston. At 5:45 p.m. this same bunch of rooters without the enthusiasm left Stoll field after their team had been beaten by our wildcats.

The game yesterday afternoon was the best seen on Stoll field this season and Captain Meadows was the scintillating feature of the afternoon's entertainment. Little Scotty was right there by the way he worried the pitcher and succeeded in getting four base on balls out of five times at bat. "Brigham" Young succeeded in connecting with the sphere with sufficient force to reach third base safely. Wesley pulled down some difficult ones in left field that were labled hits. Rice had one put out in the right garden, while "Spot" remained idle in center. Preston, while not a slugger by reputation, broke up the game in the third round when he drove in two runs which brought the total up to four runs and took all the starch out of the "preachers." Only one man was able to steal on "Tommie" as he and Burruss "had em" bluffed during the entire game.

McGowan was relieved by Shaw in the fifth inning and he fared no better than his colleague. Moore played the best game for the Transylvania team and had his team mates worked harder and shown more class the score might have been closer. Umpire Sewell had little trouble in handling the game and no arguments of any note. The score was as follows:

THE LETTERS THAT NEVER COME.

It may be life's a tragedy
And sometimes wrapped in gloom,
But of them all the deepest thrall
Are the letters that never come.

Bright visions may deal falsely,
And false they prove to some,
Tho' fraught with scare they don't compare
With the letters that never come.

All's more or less a comedy
From the cradle to the tomb,
But poor's the jest we may protest
On the letters that never come.

Our friends all say they love us,
And the other fellow's bum,
And they'll be true what e'er they do,
In the letters that never come.

Kindest words and compliments
And fondest favors done
Of every kind we only find
In the letters that never come.

And as our lives are lengthened
We find at last the sum
Of all we gain are hopes in vain
From the letters that never come.

NAUTICAL ALMANAC FIGURES

Great Care Exercised In Preparing Tables for the Guidance of the Sailor.

It may be safely said that no one outside the publishing office has read the entire "Nautical Almanac" from beginning to end, but each figure of the printed almanac is, in the office, examined twice and read three times. The total number of figures exceeds a million, but, great as the number is, it is trifling compared with the number of figures employed in the calculations, as the almanac figures represent "bare" results only. The moon, for instance, requires for its calculation more than a million and a half of figures, and similarly with other branches of the work, such as the sun, the planets, etc. Contrary to the general opinion, practically every figure in the book is fresh from year to year.

The tables from which nearly all the work is calculated have been originally constructed from the labors of the astronomical observer, and to a larger extent from the observations of the sun, moon and planets made at the Royal Observatory, Greenwich. Telescopes and other astronomical appliances are conspicuously absent, as the work of the staff is purely mathematical and not observational.—From "The Sailor's Bible" in the Strand.

Quick Justice.

A Yorkshireman was standing next to a representative of the Red Rose on the second day of the Blackpool flying meeting, when he remarked: "I understand that justice is meted out very quickly in these parts." "Quickly!" exclaimed the Lancastrian. "I should think it is. Why, mate, only yesterday an alrman fell out of his aeroplane, and he was tried and sentenced to six months in jail before he hit the ground." "You don't say so! What was the charge?" "Vagrancy; he had no visible means of support."

A STUDENT'S CALL, THE SENTIMENT OF EVERYONE

We have often been told that the students are the real university, that its reputation and success depends on them, for without them the university could not exist. Though this is logical, the conclusion that follows seems to have been little considered as the administration of the university is in reality the management of something belonging to students, it seems that their wishes should be followed whenever possible.

It is a fact that most of the young men and women attending the university are of an age when their judgment is of some good and when it is remembered, besides, that many have taught school, and held other responsible positions, there is no reason for looking down on any improvements they may suggest, or for treating them as irresponsible children.

The matter of the library is most striking in this regard. The student body is almost unanimous in their desire that this institution should be open at the times they can most conveniently use it, which is at night, Saturday afternoons and Sunday. The wisdom of this has been often shown in The Idea, and the gentlemen who are in authority in the matter have certainly had their attention called to it. The wishes of the students for whose use the library is supposed to be intended are overlooked, however. The improvement of the dormitories affords another instance where the student's desires are overlooked.

These examples can be multiplied, and all point to the same fact.

Since The Idea is the official organ of the student-body and the medium through which the wishes of the undergraduates are made known, it is only proper that the members of the faculty should read it, to keep in proper touch with the students and and their wishes given consideration.
